EXPLANATIONS OF THE SLUMP.

All Sorts of Reasons For The Shortage of Democratic Votes.

BECKHAM NOT SAFE.

With Only Six More Than Enough Votes The Legislature May Cause Trouble

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—"Whiskey and water won't mix" is the reason tersely assigned by many leading Democrats here for the overwhelming defeat of the Democratic ticket Tuesday. Asked to interpret this they say that while Hager and Beckham were talking temperance over the State and promising prohibition reforms, Trimble, Bosworth, Laffoon, Chenault and others on the State ticket were fraternizing with the liquor element, and some of them were making deals with the liquor people, which had to be denied in the next breath by the two leaders.

The cry of "machine" and the palpable plans of the present office holders to perpetuate themselves in positions in the State government is also believed here to be one of the strongest reasons why the people of the State turned against the Democrats from top to bottom. Democrats of prominence here do not hesitate now to criticize the management of the campaign, and the whole scheme of attempted succession in office. They say that instead of having "the most perfect organization ever seen in the State" that the Democratic campaign was badly demoralized from start to finish, and at no time was the organization anything like the proportions of the one which elected Beckham by 27,000.

Revolt Against Beckham.

The complexion of the next Legislature is giving the Democratic leaders here much concern. It is evident that there is an incipient revolt against Gov. Beckham, the primary nominee for United States Senator. Close friends of Mr. Beckham here say that there is no doubt but that the Democrats will have a majority on joint ballot, but they are looking askance at a number of senators, especially McNutt and Charlton of Louisville, who are known to be decidedly opposed to anyone who is an enemy of the liquor cause. It is reported here that McNutt and Charlton as well as Chris Mueller, who seems to be the sole Democratic Representative with head above water in the Falls City, have declared that they will not vote for Beckham for Senator under any state of the case. With these powerful Democrats leading a revolt, the enemies of the Governor within the party—and they have grown to be legion lately—say that a deadlock can be secured long enough to get out a man who can alienate the big majority of Democratic members who are pledged to Beckham.

The consensus of opinion here is that Gov. W. O. Bradley will be the Republican caucus choice to oppose Beckham. Local Republicans are for him to a man, and it is conceded by Democrats that he will be the hardest man to beat that could be brought out.

WAIVED TRIAL

Before Acting Judge Parker and Held Over.

Ed Ware and Bill Johnson, both colored, charged with hog stealing about the first of October last, appeared before acting County Judge Parker yesterday. By their attorneys they waived examining trial and were permitted to give bond for $200 each to appear before the grand jury at the next term of circuit court. Failing to make bond they were remanded to jail.

FIRST SALE ON THE FLOOR.

A Large Crowd Of Buyers And Spectators Were There.

GOOD PRICES RULED.

Offering Yesterday Was of Poor Quality But Sold At Good Prices.

The first sale of the new crop of tobacco on the loose floor by M. H. Tandy & Co., took place at their warehouse yesterday morning. The sale of 24 lots was made in less than an hour. There was something like one hundred buyers and spectators present to see how the season's business started off and bidding was spirited.

The first lot sold brought $5.95 and the highest figure was $11.10. There were not more than half a dozen lots of good tobacco offered, as will be seen from the figures given below, and good tobacco brought good prices. The first receipts at the loose floor warehouse are generally of a poor quality. Lots ranged from $5.50 to $7.50. The opening prices are considered high, but ranging from $9.00 to $12.00. The American Tobacco Co., the Imperial Co., the American Snuff Co. and P. E. West & Co. were the principal buyers.

Tandy & Co. expect to have a much better lot of tobacco at their next sale and say to their customers and friends that they will give the most careful attention to all consignments of tobacco made to them and are satisfied that they can get a better price for their tobacco, no matter what the grade, than the farmer can obtain at the barn as the loose floor gives the farmer the advantage of concentrated competition.

Following is a full account of the sales:

$ 5.95	$ 7.10	$ 11.00	$ 10.25
7.10	6.00	10.75	7.60
6.20	7.40	5.50	10.75
5.50	8.80	9.50	6.80
6.00	5.50	7.90	6.50
10.25	7.30	6.00	7.60

Notes.

Mathews & Co., of Louisville, have bought the building at Third and Liberty streets and are to use it for rehandling tobacco on this market. Mr. Nat Dortch will do the buying for the company.

The offices of S. G. Buckner, the Farmers' Association man here, are to be in the Bonte building on West 8th St. in the rear of Frankle's store.

Will Hancock is doing the buying for the American Snuff Co. again this year. It goes without saying that Will is "up to snuff" when he is handling the weed.

REPUBLICANS CLAIM 17,000

Find They Seem To Have The Figures To Back Their Claims

REPUBLICANS WIN ALL

Lassing Had a Close Call And McChord Was Defeated.

Louisville, Kentucky, Nov. 8.—The efforts of some of the minor candidates on the Democratic ticket to claim their election seems useless as it is certain that the entire Republican ticket has gone through and that it will run, if any only several thousand and behind the leaders.

The complete returns from those counties which have reported show that there is little difference between the leaders and the others on the tickets, with the exception of Mr. McChord and Judge Lassing. Though the former at this time appears to have been defeated in his contest for Railroad Commissioner by Judge Tarlton, the majority is not yet certain and the official returns may make some change. Mr. Tarlton, however, claims that he is undoubtedly elected and gives figures which show him to have a good majority. Mr. McChord has not given up hope.

That Judge Lassing was elected Judge of the Court of Appeals is assured and his majority will be nearly 1,000.

It is not yet possible to say what will be the makeup of the next Legislature, for while the Democrats claim to have a majority of between ten and twelve on the joint ballot, the Republicans declare that they will have the best of it in the House and that they will be able by a combination with the anti-Beckham force among the Democrats either to send a Republican to the United States Senate or to block the election of the Governor. This the Beckham men deny. They declare the House will be from one to five Democratic and with the Democratic hold-over Senators they will have enough votes to land their man a winner.

The efforts on the part of those opposed to the Governor within his own party will, it is claimed by his friends, fall flat and unless the anti show more strength than they have in the past it is likely that the next Senator will be Gov. Beckham.

With returns from every county in the State, Col. Albert Scott, of the Republican Campaign Committee says Willson's majority will be over 17,000.

Still Counting.

John B. Chilton, Sheriff David Smith and J. M. Starling, election commissioners for this county, began counting the vote for State officers yesterday morning. They will get through today. They took up the State vote first, and yesterday had gotten through with the county. They still have to take up the city vote as well as the other incorporated towns in the county. Of course the vote cannot be tabulated until the commissioners get through with their work.

FIRE ALARM.

Caused Department to Make A Run Yesterday.

At 1:50 p. m. yesterday an alarm of fire was turned in from East Twelfth street. A negro cabin near the Enterprise tobacco warehouse caught on fire, but the flames, which had gotten under pretty good headway, were put out before the department arrived, though the reply was quite prompt.

TOBACCO DEAL FAILED TO LAND

Negotiations Said To Be Off With the Equity People.

INTERNAL DISSENSIONS

Other Tobacco News From the Society of Equity District.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Reports to the effect that the American Society of Equity of the Green River District Tobacco Growers' Association had sold to the American Tobacco Company the remnant of the 1905 crop, and all of the 1906 crop now stored in pool with the Louisville Warehouse Company, were denied by a representative of the trust last night. No negotiations were made for this tobacco, but until yesterday morning negotiations pending between the Home Society of Equity, a branch of the American Society of Equity, and the American Tobacco Company for the sale of the 1907 crop. These negotiations were called off on account of opposition that developed on the part of officers of the American Society of Equity.

The Home Society of Equity, commonly known as the Owensboro Society of Equity, according to the trust representative, controls the 1907 tobacco grown in that district, amounting to about 5,000,000 pounds. A plan was on foot, according to the trust representative, to dispose of this tobacco to the American Tobacco Company at the following prices: $9 a hundred for leaf; $9 for lugs and $3 for scraps, or an average price of $7.50 a hundred. Yesterday morning, it was understood, the officers of the American Society learned his plan and immediately opposed it with the result that the negotiations were called off.

Had this tobacco been sold at the prices demanded the prices of the 1905 and 1906 crop in pool with the Louisville Warehouse Company would have been seriously affected. The farmers holding the pooled 1905 and 1906 are demanding an average 1,400 hogheads of 1905 tobacco in pool with the Louisville Warehouse Company, and 12,000 hogheads of the 1906 crop. The prices asked by the holders of this tobacco, it is said, would have been pounded down had the Home Society of Equity disposed of the 1907 crop at $7.50 a hundred.

An officer of the Louisville Warehouse Company said last night that all the tobacco in pool had been sampled and that none as yet been examined by any prospective buyers.

NEW ARMY IN FIELD

Mounted Men Sent Out Unarmed to Get Pledges.

Hawesville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Three hundred farmers of Hancock county, and members of the American Society of Equity, rode into town and held a secret meeting behind closed doors at the court house. The meeting lasted about four hours, after which the men were divided into three squads and rode out of town for the purpose of visiting all farmers of the county that do not belong to the society to try and get them to come into the union and to pool this year's crop of tobacco.

If they cannot persuade them to pool, then they will ask the nonunion men not to sell their present crop until the 1905 and 1906 crop now pooled has been sold. Before the squads left town each member was searched to see that they had no weapons or liquor with them, and each one was cautioned not to use violence in any case. After the county has been visited the delegates will return to this place and hold another secret meeting and report.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to scientific and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living, with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as the more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

BIG FISH POND.

Reelfoot Lake Leased And Sublet To Fishermen.

Hickman, Ky., Nov. 2.—The West Tennessee Land company, with a capital of $125,000 and the following officers: Judge Harris, president; Sled Waddell, secretary and treasurer; and Deason, Rankin & Taylor, counselors at law, have acquired all the lands covering Reelfoot Lake and have leased the same to the Reelfoot Fish company, which is composed of J. B. Burdick, J. S. Shaw and W. A. Pleasant, who have the sole right to hunt and fish on the lake for profit. All of the fish and game will be delivered in Union City, where it will be bought by J. C. Burdick. The company will pay all of the royalty for the privilege of using them by the West Tennessee Land company, and will not expect the fishermen or hunters to pay any portion of it whatever.

This marks the end of one of the hardest legal battles in the history of Obion county. The suit was begun several years ago, but has been continued from time to time, and has attracted widespread interest among the sporting fraternity who frequent the lake.

The leasing of the sole right to hunt and fish on the lake does not in any way interfere with those who go there to hunt or fish for pleasure, and they are as free to go as in former years.

CARE OF THE HAIR

DRESSING "MY LADY'S" TRESSSES AN ACKNOWLEDGED ART.

Careful Manicuring and Brushing Are Vital to Proper Appearance—Check May Be Put on Signs of Age.

Dressing the hair to-day is more of an art than it has been for some seasons past, the arrangement of waves, curls, and curls reminding one of some of the Gainsboro pictures. Speaking of curls, was there ever such a riot of them seen before? The drooping mushroom form in abundance to fill in their generous curves, in greater abundance, in fact, than nature is willing to supply, and art must of necessity come to the rescue. Well, luckily, one can buy curls of all shades, singly or in clusters and wreaths, little tight ones and big fat ones, and no head need go unadorned. "So are those crisp and snaky golden locks."

Which make every woman gambol with the wind. Upon the hair, fairness often known. To be the dowry of a second head. Said Shakespeare, and like most of his comments on the hair, nature and customs it is just as true to-day as when he uttered it.

Waved hair still remains the mode, and there are a number of pretty ways in which a becoming undulation may be arranged. The Marcel at present is possible only in the hands of the expert, but a number of simple devices are sold on which the hair may be done at night for a pretty wave next day.

While waves are modish, it is smooth, shining ones that are smart. Glossy hair is the mark of the well-groomed woman as much as careful manicuring, and the gloss is only obtainable with care and patience. Shampooing with the best of shampoos or liquid preparations is the first step toward obtaining this fashionable gloss, a little oil being rubbed into the scalp after the shampoo if the hair seems too dry. If you will use a little oil on the scalp as directed you will never be obliged to complain that you washed your hair yesterday and just can't do a thing with it. Hair oils, brilliants, etc., impart a softness and the sheen of satin to "my lady's" tresses and are always quite harmless if not distinctly beneficial. Many of the best hair tonics and dandruff cures also produce a wonderful shine and luster.

Unless one's hair is very short and thin and easily managed it is a mistake to attempt to shampoo it at home, as so much better results are obtained at beauty parlors or baths, where a thorough cleansing is assured and every possible mechanical aid is had for careful drying and untangling.

Breaching is, as every one knows, highly beneficial to the hair, and should not be neglected night and morning. Electrical treatments are also excellent for stimulating growth and curbing a tendency to come out. There have been known to produce results with everything else seemed to have failed.

Scalp foods, tonics, and electrical treatments with scientific care of the scalp will often, if the matter is taken in time, check turning gray and restore to the hair roots that vigor which produces a natural color. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," however, and anyone who desires to retain the youth should begin the care of hair and complexion before youth has begun to wane.

HEAD CUSHION FOR CHAIR.

Intended Primarily for Wicker Porch Furniture.

Comfortable and delightful in many ways as wicker armchairs undoubtedly are, they have one serious drawback. As headrests they leave much to be desired, since the hard wicker border is anything but restful when one is anxious, perhaps, to enjoy the luxury of an after-dinner nap. A soft cushion tied securely to the back of the chair, so that it is comfortably between the wicker border and the head, makes all the difference in the world; and we give a sketch of one of these cushions, showing very clearly how it should be made, which should prove of interest to our readers.

In shape, the cushion somewhat resembles an inverted teacup. It is covered with soft serge or silk, and delicately embroidered in a floral design. The cushions on the top are used to tie the ribbon firmly to the frame of the chair, while the other bows are simply ornamental. A hemstitch trim in soft silk gives a pretty finish to this useful head cushion.

The Listeners' Excuse. If we always directly turned the other way when we heard anything obviously not intended for our ears, we should lose a vast deal of amusement.—Eton College Chronicle.

URE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Cure May Be Had.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney disease, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in.

Leslie K. Hickman, living on Arch street, Madisonville, Ky., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I tasted their merits about three months ago and the results could not have been more satisfactory. I had pain through the small of my back directly over the kidneys which caused me considerable annoyances. Stopping or straightening caused sharp twinges to catch me in the kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. I noticed a decided improvement from the use of this box, and continued taking them, using a second box, which completely cured me. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills and cheerfully give them my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

JAPS ARE BARRED

From the Public Schools in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 6.—The board of education, it is stated, has decided to discontinue George Yugama, a Japanese boy, who was admitted to the night school two weeks ago.

Yugama was admitted during the absence from the city of Supt. Ashmore. When the latter returned and learned of it he pointed out that it was a breaking of the racial line, which could not be done in the south. Yugama will be dismissed on the ground that he is over the school age, which will prevent the matter becoming an international issue.

A Misconception. "Your reputation is gone," the capitalist grater was informed.

He brightened up instantly. "Good!" he exclaimed. "Why, do you know, it was my reputation that made me late to talk."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.

Brown sugar is an antidote to salt; if soup or gravy becomes too salt, stir in a little brown sugar and it will become palatable again.

A new clothesline should be well bolted, then hung up to dry before it is used for hanging clothes on; it will last longer and be easier to manipulate when thus treated.

Keep parsley wrapped in a piece of rug wrung out in cold water, remove the cloth every day, shake it and wring out fresh and green many days if thus treated.

To remove a cake from a tin after baking fold a clean towel, put it on the table, turn the cake upside down on it, wring a cloth out in cold water and lay it in several thicknesses on the bottom and sides of the tin, which soon may be gently drawn off the cake. Take hold of the corner of the towel and gently set the cake right side up to cool.

Mustard, if quite fresh made, taken with meat helps to digest it. Do not use salt in mixing it, but first rub quite smooth with a little cold water and the back of a silver or bone spoon, then add just a little more water, a few spoonfuls gradually till it is of the right consistency. This mustard is generally disliked. This mustard is made at the time to prevent waste, and it should be fresh at least each alternate day.

Hair-Raising.

This is said to be a true snake story; it is told by an Anglo-Indian. In the next bungalow a little boy daily had his bread and milk on the veranda sitting in a child's high chair. He was as merry as a cricket; one heard him talking and crowing to himself, apparently, until one evening, to his horror, I saw him tapping the head of a cobra gently with his spoon, saying "Bobbey, bobbey" (naughty, naughty). The snake was quietly drinking the milk out of the bowl, paying no heed to the child's play.

A sudden noise or movement on my part and the cobra would instantly have turned and bitten the boy. Presently down slid the reptile away into some bushes, and I got the men to go and kill it. The child cried bitterly, and said the snake had come every morning and helped him with his breakfast.

Mutations of Time.

"How changeable you mortals are!" exclaimed a Cool Wave. "Why do you think so?" queried a man gratefully baring his brow to its touch. "I was here last April," continued the Cool Wave, "and never got the glad hand once."

The Outlook.

Farmer Hayrick—What is the prospect for the summer? Farmer Cornish—Pshaw! I've got ten cows for the railroad to run over and any number of hops for the auto-fellers. I oughter clear $500.—Puck.

A Narrow Escape.

G. W. Cloyd, a merchant of Plunk, Mo., had a narrow escape four years ago, when he ran a jimson bar into his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and that cured the dangerous wound." 25c at R. C. Hardwick's, druggist.

His information at Fault. It is evident that the man who wrote the inscription for the tablet upon the Oliver Holden house, as that of the "composer of the 'Concannon,' 'Bring Forth the Royal Diadem,' and 'Crown Him Lord of All,'" was not over-familiar with his hymnal. It is as bad as Horace Greeley's account of a dinner, when the testator wrote in the Tribune that the party drank Heidsieck champagne.

Sn and the Nose.

Some industrious deliver into things has called attention to a curious association between the letter sn and the nose. The following words, beginning with those two consonants, all have some connection with that organ: Snout, snar, sneeze, snarl, snore, snub, smart, snuffy, snort, sneer, sniff, snigger, snuff, snail, snuffle, snore, snaffle, snivel.

Bilious! Feel heavy after dinner? Tongue coated? Bitter taste? Implication? Liver needs waking up. Doan's Regulax cures bilious attacks. 25 cents at any drug store.

Slightly Mixed.

This is told as an actual happening to a Kansas man. He and his family had gathered around the supper table when the host was lowered for him to ask a blessing when the telephone bell rang. The man answered it, and coming back to the table, again bowed his head, but asked the telephone rang. He answered that call, then for the third time seated himself and, bowing his head, said "Hello!"—Lippincott's.

LINEN POCKET BOOK

WHITE MATERIAL IS BEST FOR THIS DESIGN.

Can Be Made by the Home Worker at Comparatively Little Cost—Neatly Embroidered, It Makes Pretty Trinket.

Linen is coming more and more into favor as a material for small articles, and calendars, desk sets, purses, bags and many other such things are seen in the art needlework stores and their popularity is due to its strength and its neat and fresh appearance. A design for a linen pocket book is shown in the drawing, which might very easily be carried out by the home worker at small cost, while linen being used as material. The pocket book was embroidered with white embroidery cotton in a trellis pattern, round dots also being set on at regular intervals. A double line of white embroidery cotton formed the border.

Another style of pocket book is an exact copy of the popular strap pocket book, with a handle on the back, which may be of silver or of the fingers. When finished it should be seven inches wide and four and a quarter deep. The strips should be about 12 inches long, and bring this size when finished. The strips are folded up much like an envelope with the turned-over flap coming to within an inch of the bottom of the pocket. The foundation for the purse is made of heavy white canvas, cut just like the linen covering except for the flap. The stitched handle was made of canvas, covered with the linen, and

A Pocket Book of White Embroidered Linen. was sewed to the back of the purse. If a monogram had not been used on the flap, the owner's initials may be embroidered in small letters on the handle. The flap was folded down with a hot iron.

SMALL ITEMS OF TOILET.

Coquettish Frivolities Have Immense Vogue This Season.

There is really no describing the smartening influence of the myriad little lace and embroidery details of the fashionable woman's toilette, and this fact was never more apparent than this season, when so many tailored and semi-tailored frocks are embellished with separate chemisettes, covers, cuffs, etc., of handwork of all kinds. Pieces of all kinds have won Parisian favor, and coquettish effects are obtained by their clever manipulation, even though they be ever so simple and inexpensive.

It is the girl who understands how to make and how to wear these dainty accessories who appears well dressed. A white duck skirt worn with a hand-made and hand-embroidered blouse and finished by a good-looking belt and tie or stock is always in good taste this time of year, provided it is all dainty and fresh, the belt carefully adjusted, the blouse securely fastened and no white petticoats dipping below the duck skirt in the back.

A full-length glass or a well-tipped dressing mirror should be consulted before going out. It is very difficult to have petticoats and underskirts of exact length for tub frocks, where shrinkage must be considered, and a linen or duck skirt particularly is apt to "hitch" at the back.

"Music is a Cry."

Music is called the universal language; and yet when you are struggling to understand what a composer is trying to say, always remember that he is speaking a primitive language that frames vaguely a sentiment, or a mood, or a tangled fabric of sentiments and moods. The best definition I ever heard of music is that of Taine, "Music is a cry," and—to my thinking, at least—the best music is that in which, to the largest degree, each note represents an outcry. But then a cry may mean so much or so little!—Delineator.

Linen Robe Patterns.

In the embroidered linen robe patterns are to be found many that will make up readily into three-piece costumes or into process dresses with a supplementary coat or sleeveless jacket. Some of these pattern gowns have at least one embroidered or lace panel that will extend from the belt to the hem, and others a skirt showing entre-deux of heavy lace or embroidery which is repeated in the jacket trimming and in the accompanying blouse.

Priest Cate for Bridemaid.

Little "priests" capes of creamy Venetian lace, which are caught in the center of the back with a huge buckle and fall in long graduated ends to the bottom of the skirt, represent a very pretty idea for a gown for bridesmaids. The lace is repeated again as a covering to a hat of white muslin, which requires no supplementary adornment save a huge feather secured with a large buckle repeating exactly the tones of the flowers in the bouquet.

The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY—Partly cloudy and probably colder Saturday.

WHAT DID IT?

Opinions do not agree as to what caused the Democratic defeat. Some say it was the machine. Some say it was the dog tax. Whiskey men say it was Hager's attitude on the county unit law. The Prohibitionists say it was Tyler's platform for mayor of Louisville. In the mining district it may have been labor troubles. In the tobacco districts night riding helped some. In the cities it was the wet vote turned Republican. In the country it was the farmers who stayed at home. In Central Kentucky, McCreary's home county went Republican, but Hager's home did the same and Beckham's showed a loss of 600. Hendrick's city, Lafont's county, Vreeland's city, Winfrey's county, Chenault's county and even Urey Woodson's city went the wrong way. Here in Christian where we had the whiskey question, the night riders, and other drawbacks to contend with, and with General Apathy driving Democrats from the polls in the country, we may congratulate ourselves that they let us off with a loss of 250 over 1903.

Russellville's council ticket squeezed in by 40 votes.

Bowling Green Democrats saved their city ticket by less than 100.

The Prohibitionists closed the seasons in three-fourths of Delaware Tuesday.

The triumph of Tammany gives a set back to Win. R. Hearst in national politics. He will probably not run for president this time.

Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., Democrat, has conceded the election of John F. Fort, the Republican nominee for governor of New Jersey.

Maryland has elected the Democratic candidate for governor, Judge Austin L. Crothers, and the entire Democratic state ticket by 7,000 plurality.

Tom L. Johnson appears to be invincible in Cleveland. His defeat of Congressman Burton for mayor of Cleveland was decisive enough to be crushing.

The old board of councilmen was elected in Cadiz, consisting of D. L. Crutcher, Henry Malone, Ben H. White, E. C. Thacker, J. B. Alexander and H. S. Mitchell.

Returns from the municipal election in San Francisco indicate the election of most of the candidates of the Good Government League ticket, including Taylor for mayor.

The first installment of the $36,000,000 of gold engaged abroad, amounting to $8,000,000, arrived Tuesday. For a week or more the golden stream will continue to flow into New York.

President Zelaya, of Nicaragua; President Davila, of Honduras, and President Figueroa, of Salvador, met in conference at Amnapalas and agreed upon another Central American peace pact.

The 14,000 striking telegraph operators, after a strike lasting 13 weeks, were ordered back to work Tuesday, in a meeting held at Chicago. The strike had been going to pieces for several weeks.

The Republican candidates in Lexington and Fayette county have decided to contest the election of the Democratic ticket. The seats of Blair and Combs in the general assembly will also be contested.

John B. Brasher will contest the election of T. E. Finley as representative from Hopkins county. Finley's majority is 275. Brasher claims that more than 300 imported negroes were voted against him.

According to the latest figures Willson's majority is hovering dangerously near to 13,000. The Louisville Times puts it at 12,921, with one Republican and two Democratic counties out.

Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, after a mysterious disappearance of several days, showed up in court in New York yesterday and was held in bond of $7,500 to answer to the indictments recently returned against him.

Owensboro went head over heels into the Republican camp, saving only one councilman out of the wreck. The Republicans and their allies even beat Henry Overstreet, for Senator by 54 votes, electing Ben F. Landrom.

Mr. Willson in his speech here publicly pledged himself to issue a requisition for the return of W. S. Taylor to Kentucky and said the requisition would be honored, and that Taylor would be brought back and given a fair trial.

When T. J. Candiff was here the other day he told his friends that in the event of the election of Willson for Governor, he hoped to succeed Mott Ayers as Fire Marshal of the State. Jeff is a Republican and is a detective by nature, education and long experience.

Rhode Island has re-elected Governor James H. Higgins, Democratic candidate for governor, his plurality reaching 2,307, a gain of 1,000 since 1904. The general assembly is Republican in both branches, insuring the return of George Peabody Wetmore to the United States Senate.

The Sheriff of Lake county, Ind., has been arrested by a U. S. Marshal for opening the mail of a prisoner in the county jail. A test case is being made to change the universal custom obtaining in jails and prisons, to prevent forbidden articles being sent to prisoners in sealed letters.

BEATEN BADLY

By Two Negroes Who Made Murderous Attack.

Will Smith, a negro who was released from the city lockup Wednesday, was assaulted near the L. & N. depot and badly beaten up by Bob and Majors Bronaugh and would have been killed but for interference by bystanders. They struck him with an iron tap on the end of a stick. His head was badly cut, and his left arm broken at the wrist. The Bronaughs were arrested soon afterwards by officers Ford and Evitte and put in jail. Smith's wounds were attended to by the city physician.

The trouble resulted from the Bronaugh's "guying" Smith about his recent confinement in the work house.

HINES WILL NOT TALK.

The Defeat of McChord Is Almost Conceded.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—With several counties yet to be officially heard from, the claim made by the Republicans is that Willson's majority is 17,000. Judge Henry B. Hines, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, refused yesterday to make any statement for publication.

The Republicans are claiming the election of L. B. Tarlton as railroad commissioner to succeed C. C. McChord, by a majority of 1,000 or 1,200. The Democrats claim McChord is elected by a small majority. The official count will probably be necessary to decide who is the winner.

An unofficial summary of the vote of the eleven districts is as follows:

Hager, Willson.

Second.....	1727
Third.....	2310
Fourth.....	502
Fifth.....	7409

STAY-AT-HOME VOTE.

"The stay-at-home vote did it." This is what Judge S. W. Hager, Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, State Chairman Henry B. Hines and a score of other Democrats at headquarters say concerning the falling off in the Democratic vote reported from nearly every county in the state.

"The Republicans did not show any increase over the vote for Roosevelt or Yerkes," they declared with great earnestness. "The Democrats simply stayed at home."

All are speculating as to why the Democrats did not vote.

TWO GOOD PAPERS

The Athenaeum Holds Session of Unusual Interest.

The Athenaeum held a meeting of unusual interest Thursday evening at Hotel Latham. Laylord Geo. W. Thompson served an elegant dinner. The menu cards were printed especially for the Athenaeum and contained the following delightful bill of fare:

CONSOMME—IN CUP.

Celery.
Lamb chop—Saute—with Green Peas.
Roast Spring Turkey—Stuffed—Cranberry Sauce.
Potatoes Rissolee. String Beans.
Lettuce Salad—Chiffonade.
Vanilla Ice Cream.
Assorted Cake. Pumpkin Pie.
American Cheese and Toasted Crackers.
Coffee Noire.

The dinner was served in courses and was greatly enjoyed by the twenty-one gentlemen present.

The program consisted of a literary-biographical paper by Mr. W. T. Tandy on "Charles W. Webber, Author and Botanist," and one on "Alcoholism" by Dr. T. W. Blakey. Mr. Tandy's paper was a sketch of the life of a Hopkinsville writer who died as a member of the Nicaraguan expedition of William Walker in 1853. He was a son of the late Dr. A. Webber, who died in 1873.

He wrote several books, was a great friend of Audubon and one of the leading ornithologists of his day. One of his frontier sketches is to be found in Goodrich's fifth reader of 50 years ago. The paper was of surpassing interest and great historical value. Dr. Blakey's paper was a discussion of inebriety from a medical and hereditary standpoint. Both papers were discussed by nearly all of the members present. Those in attendance were Messrs. T. C. Underwood, Edmund Harrison, W. L. Nourse, H. D. Smith, H. C. Smith, M. A. Jenkins, R. L. Woodard, W. T. Tandy, W. T. Fowler, J. T. Hanbery, Joust Henry, L. H. Davis, E. H. Barker, John Stites, Ira L. Smith, Barksdale Hamlett, J. C. Duffy, T. J. McKeynolds, F. M. Stites, T. W. Blakey and Chas. M. Meacham. Rev. C. H. H. Branch was elected to membership.

Lawyer in Kankakee Asks the Court to Declare Football Prize Fighting.

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 7.—Judge Hooper, in the circuit court here, today denied Attorney Steven R. Moore's application for an injunction restraining the playing of football by high school students on the ground that it was prize fighting.

Attorney Moore declares he will appeal the case.

In denying the injunction Judge Hooper ruled that the board of Edu-

Mr. Williams had $1,100 insurance.

The hog market suffered a decline in Louisville Wednesday, prices ranging from $6.20 a hundred to $5.25. There has been an over production in the big markets recently and this is beginning to be felt in various cities. It is expected that the market will return to a more staple basis within the next few days.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Advice and Suggestions Furnished by Miss Merril.

Dear Madame Merril: Please send name of book on the theories of society and oblige.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

It is impossible to give names and addresses in the department. If the reader will send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Madame Merril, in care of the paper, the information will be forwarded.

Dear Madame Merril: I am going to give a party and want it to be a musical. What should be done to pass the evening besides music, and what should be served, etc.?

Generally the only entertainment necessary is the musical programme. You can have musical quotations on the cards bearing the programme and if you wish to give favors, get the pretty candy boxes which come in all sorts of musical forms. You can serve elaborate or simple refreshments. I think a bowl of frappe with ice cream or an ice all sufficient in the summer time.

For a Cotton Wedding.

I am thinking of giving a house party for some girl friends, celebrating our first wedding anniversary, and I am writing for suggestions from you. How shall I word the invitations or should they be informal notes?

MRS. HERBERT T.

I should write little notes, wrap them in cotton, then place in envelopes, saying nothing that it was in honor of the anniversary. Then at dinner the wedding day have all the decorations of white, using cotton in every available way. I knew of a "first" anniversary dinner where wigs of fluffy cotton were provided; this made a lot of fun. Down south one can buy little cotton bales that would be fine for favors.

A Fork Party.

Some months ago a description of a fork party appeared in Madame Merril's department. I have lost the paper and ask you to kindly repeat and greatly oblige one who is a constant reader of your paper.

The above request has been the burden of many letters received lately. I think the best way to pacify the desire to reprint the "party" in as condensed a form as possible.

In the affair described there were four honored guests and six intimate friends who conspired with the hostess to make the party a success.

On "the" four chairs at the dining table four bibs were tied. The favors were dainty celluloid rattles, white white storks bore the place cards in their bills, but at "the" four plates each bird had a tiny doll baby done up in a small square of linen. The table centerpiece was a good-sized girl cradle, with a canopy of dotted Swiss, tied with pink ribbons. Tiny pink rosebuds were scattered over the table with maiden-hair ferns.

The napkins were folded like doll babies and fastened with safety pins. Candles, fairy lamps and a number of little night lamps furnished the illumination, while advertisements of all the baby foods adorned the walls. These had been cut from magazines and mounted on cardboard. There were also numerous "ada" of go-carts, cribs and high chairs.

The menu consisted of celery soup, chicken cutlets, mashed potato in ramkins, tomatoes and spaghetti, a fruit salad, ice cream in round ring molds, with one bottle of paragon, angel food and chocolate.

The afternoon was spent in working on various articles for the little strangers, and at five o'clock the hostess served what she said was cannoneer and aniseed "tea" with baby "educator" crackers.

On departing the guests received small boxes which contained a minute cake of soap and a doll's hot water bottle.

My Dear Madame Merril: Is it proper to have a shower for a bride at a breakfast? If so, what time? Is this shower supposed to be a surprise to the bride?

What would be proper for the menu? Should the parcels be sent to the hostess before the appointed time and when and how would be the most appropriate time to give them to the bride-elect? Would it be proper to invite married ladies? BEATRICE.

A breakfast is served at 12, half after or one o'clock, not later, and the same menu is served as one would have at a luncheon, with the exception of soup. The bride-elect may or may not know of the shower. I think it is interesting to have it a surprise. The parcels should be sent to the hostess before hand and they should be given after the lunch. It would be perfectly proper to invite married ladies. MADAME MERRIL.

The "Chasuble" Coat.

Automobile enthusiasts have taken an interest in the new chasuble coat with open sides which falls absolutely straight at back and front like the ecclesiastical robe for which it is named. It is made of heavy linen or pongee and so far has been finished with bands of heavy lace around the whole garment. On the fronts and sleeves it is usually finished with cotton passementerie and brandenburgh. The first qualification of this coat for summer use is the readiness with which it clings.

Here are True Guides to Success

Is justice to yourself and to your family wife for these folders. They're free. Learn of the wonderful opportunities these state now offer. Wealth and happiness await you in the South-west. No section of the United States has ever offered greater possibilities, in no other state are there so many conditions favorable for success.

Glides With the Current in Arkansas and Texas.

The Climate is healthy and bracing. You can work out of doors the year round. There are good homes and good business opportunities in the South-west. Live stock here range nearly all year. No other state is so well supplied with water.

There is a fine growing season - this means bigger and more profitable crops. You can market some crops nearly every month in the year. There is an abundant supply of good, pure water. The rainfall is plentiful and evenly distributed.

The soil is rich - it's not worked out. You can buy a farm now for about one-third its actual value and pay for it in 12 months from the crops, and live comfortably while you are doing it.

Don't the Southwest appeal to you? Just come and see for yourself. Take advantage of the wonderful opportunities this territory now offers. It is better where you are living, along under adverse conditions, waiting your time and making trying to get a "lighted" land which is "all worked out" pay. At once before land values take another jump. You can't make a mistake. Early may mean disappointment. Seeing is believing. Make a trip of investigation now. It will pay you. Woman's Need of Rest.

Every woman should have at least short time in the day in which she can rest, and it should be a regular time. She should close her eyes, withdraw her thoughts from everything and rest by rest. Fifteen or twenty minutes of such absolute rest every day counts for a great deal.

Monarch's Practical Joke.

Francis I. practiced some cruel jokes on Jacob Paul von Gundling, an eminent scientist, on one occasion dressing up in monkey clothing and running to those worn by the professor and making the latter embrace him in public and acknowledge him as his own son, and on Gundling's death the king had his body dressed in state uniform and buried in a wine cask.

A Tip for Stenographers.

When the question of matrimony is considered it would seem that the stenographer has every advantage or attractiveness, since very few stay in the business beyond the age of 33 years and not many up to that age. Before that time, the figures show, most stenographers abandon their business and become married.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

Cell Rhodes' Great Idea.

Cell Rhodes once said to Lord Rosebery: "When I find myself in an ungenial company, or when people are playing their games, or when I am alone in a railway carriage, I shut my eyes and think of my great idea: I turn it over in my mind and try to get a new light on it; it is the pleasantest companion that I have."

Cocoa Good for Children. Happily, there is one beverage, says Table Talk, that children love dearly that may be given them without question - cocoa. It is so rich in nourishment that it should be, with milk, that it ranks as a food rather than a drink, and is particularly useful in nourishing a child who dislikes milk by itself.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Giles Dudley arrives in San Francisco to join his friend and distant relative, Henry Wilton, whom he was to assist in an important and mysterious task, and who accompanied Dudley on the ferry boat trip into the city. The remarkable resemblance of the two men is noted and commented on by passengers on the ferry. They see a man with snake eyes, which sends a thrill through Dudley, but occurs to him as a manifestation of the strange errand Dudley had come to perform, but occurs to him as a manifestation of the strange errand Dudley had come to perform, but occurs to him as a manifestation of the strange errand Dudley had come to perform.

CHAPTER II.—Outside there is heard about and curses and the noise of a quarrel, Henry rushes in and at the request the roommates quickly exchange clothes, and he returns again. Henry has been gone than Giles is startled by a cry of "Help," and he follows him into some one being assaulted by a half dozen men. He summons a policeman but they are unable to find any trace of a crime.

CHAPTER III.—Giles returns to his room and hunts for some evidence that might explain his strange mission. He finds a map which he endeavors to decipher. He goes to sleep and is awakened by the presence of some one in his room. They grapple and the person demands to know "where is the boy?" and follows him to the rescue and bind and gag the stranger. Dudley is mistaken for Henry Wilton, and receives a note regarding money to be paid him.

Then, in the hope that I might find something among Henry's effects to give me a clue to the men who had attacked him, I went carefully through his clothes and papers. But I found that he did not leave memoranda of his business lying about. The only scrap that could have a possible bearing on it was a sheet of paper in the coat he had changed with me. It bore a rough map, showing a road branching thrice, with crosses marked here and there upon it. Underneath was written:

"Third road—cockneyed barn—iron cow."

Then followed some numerals mixed in a drunken dance with half the letters of the alphabet—the explanation of the map, I suppose, in cipher, and as it might prove a clue to this dreadful business, I folded it up carefully in an envelope and placed it in an innermost pocket.

The search having failed of definite results, I sat with my hand against the wall to consider the situation. Turn it as I would I could make nothing of it. There were desperate enterprises at which I could see neither beginning nor end, purpose nor result. I repented of my consent to mix in these dangerous doings and resolved that when the morning came I would find other quarters, take up the search for Henry, and look for such work as might be found.

It was after midnight when I had come to this conclusion, and, barring doors and windows as well as I could, I flung myself on the bed to rest, and I sank into an uneasy slumber.

When I awoke it was with a start and an oppressive sense that somebody else was in the room. The gaslight that I had left burning had been put out. Darkness was intense. I sat upright and felt for matches that I had seen upon the stand.

In another instant I was flung back upon the bed. Wiry fingers gripped my throat, and a voice hissed in my ear:

"Where is he? Where is the boy? Give me your papers, or I'll wring the life out of you!"

I was strong and vigorous, and, though taken at a disadvantage, struggled desperately enough to break grip on my assailant and get a hold upon my assailant.

"Where is the boy?" gasped the voice once more; and then, as I made no reply, but twisted my arm about him my assailant saved all his breath for the struggle.

We rolled to the floor with a thud that shook the house, and in this change of base I had the luck to come out uppermost. Then my courage rose as I found that I could hold my man. I feared a knife, but if he had one he had not drawn it, and I was able to keep his hands too busy to allow him to get possession of it now.

Finding that he was able to accomplish nothing, he gave a short cry and called:

"Come!"

I heard a confusion of steps outside, and a sound as of a muffled door. Then the door opened, there was a rush of feet behind me, and the flash of a bullseye lantern. I released my enemy, and sprang back to the corner where I could defend myself at some advantage.

I could distinguish four dark figures of men; but, instead of rushing upon me as I stood on the defensive, they seized upon my assailant. I looked on, panting, and hardly able to regulate my breath. It was not half a minute before my enemy was securely bound and gagged and carried out. One of the men lingered.

"Don't take such risks," he said. "I wouldn't have your job, Mr. Wilton, for all the old man's money. If we hadn't happened up here, you'd have been done for in a minute."

"In God's name, man, what does all this mean?" I gasped.

The man looked at me in evident surprise.

"They've got a fresh start, I guess," he said. "You'd better get some of the men up here. Mr. Richmond sent us up here to bring this letter."

and darkness. I struck a match, lighted the gas once more, and, securing the revolver, looked to the letter. The envelope bore no address. I tore it open. The lines were written in a woman's hand, and a faint but peculiar perfume rose from the paper. It bore but these words:

"Don't make the change until I see you. The money will be ready in the morning. Be at the bank at 10:30."

The note, puzzling as it was, was hardly an addition to my perplexity. It was evident that I had been plunged into the center of intrigue, plot and counterplot. I was supposed to have possession of somebody's boy.

have to let you go overboard on this ship."

Here was a fine prospect conveyed by Detective Coogan's picturesque confusion of metaphors. If I persisted in claiming my own name and person I was to be clapped into jail, and charged with Heaven-knows-what crimes. If I took my friend's name, I was to invite the career of adventure of which I had just had a taste. And while this was flashing through my mind, I wondered idly who the "old man" could be. The note I had received was certainly in a lady's hand. But if the lady was Henry's employer, it was evident that he had dealt with the police as the representative of a man of power.

My decision was of necessity promptly taken.

"Oh, well, if that's the way you look at it, Coogan," I said carelessly, "it's all right. I thought it was agreed that we weren't to know each other."

"The was a nice shot, but it hit it."

"Yes, yes," said the detective, "I remember. But you see, this is serious business. Here's a murder on our hands, and from all I can learn it's on account of your confounded schemes. We've got to know where we stand, or there will be the Old Nick to pay. The papers will get hold of it, and then—well, you remember that shake-up we had three years ago."

"But you forget the 'old man,'" I returned. The name of that potent unknown seemed to be my only weapon in the contest with Detective Coogan. I said I thought this a time to try my force.

"Not much, I don't!" said Coogan, visibly disturbed. "But if it comes to a choice, we'll have to risk a battle with him."

"Well, maybe we're wasting time over a trifle," said I, voicing my hope. "Perhaps your dead man belongs somewhere else."

"Come along to the morgue, then," said he.

"Where was he found?" I asked as we walked out of the City Hall.

"He was picked up at about three o'clock in the back room of the Hurricane Deck—the waterfront saloon, you know—near the foot of Folson Street."

Detective Coogan asked a number of questions as we walked, and in a few minutes we came to the undertaker's shop that served as the city morgue.

"Here it is," said Coogan, opening a door.

The low room was dark and chill and musty, but its details started at me from the obscurity as he turned up the lights.

Detective Coogan's words seemed to come from a great distance as he said: "Here, you see, he was stabbed. The knife went to the heart. Here he was hit with something heavy and blunt; but it had enough of an edge to cut the scalp and lay the cheek open. The skull is broken. See here—"

I summoned my resolution and looked.

Disfigured and ghastly as it was, I recognized it. It was the face of Henry Wilton.

The next I knew I was sitting on a bench, and the detective was holding a bottle to my lips.

"There, take another swallow," he said, not unkindly. "I didn't know you weren't used to it."

"Oh," I gasped, "I'm all right now." And I was able to look steadily at the gruesome surroundings and the dreadful burden on the slab.

"Is this the man?" asked the detective.

"Yes."

"His name?"

"Dudley—James Dudley." I was not quite willing to transfer the whole of my identity to the dead, and changed the Giles to James.

"Was he a relative?"

I shook my head, though I could not have said why I denied it. Then, in answer to the detective's question, I told the story of the scuffle in the alley, and of the events that followed.

"Did you see any of the men? To recognize them I mean?"

I described the leader as well as I was able—the man with the face of the wolf that I had seen in the lantern-flash.

Detective Coogan lost his listless air, and looked at me in astonishment.

"I don't see your game, Wilton," he said.

"I'm giving you the straight facts," I said solemnly, a little disturbed by his manner and tone.

"Well, in that case, I'd expect you to keep the straight facts to yourself, my boy."

It was my turn to be astonished.

"Well, that's my lookout," I said with assumed carelessness.

"I don't see through you," said the detective with some irritation. "If you're playing with me to stop this inquiry by dragging in—well, we won't, man—you'll find your self in the hottest water you ever struck."

"You can do as you please," I said coolly.

The detective tipped out an oath.

"If I knew you were lying, Wilton, I'd clap you in jail this minute."

"Well, if you want to take the risk—" I said smiling.

He looked at me for a full minute.

"Candidly, I don't, and you know it," he said. "But this is a stunner on me. What's your game, anyhow?"

I wished I knew.

"So accomplished a detective should not be at a loss to answer so simple a question."

"Well, there's only one course open, as I see," he said with a groan. "We've got to have a story ready for the papers and the coroner's jury."

This was a new suggestion for me.

—you can just forget your name—about the now in the alley," he continued.

"There's nothing to show that it had anything to do with this man here. Maybe it didn't happen. Anyhow, just that it was a dream. This was a water-front row—tough saloon—killed and robbed by parties unknown. Maybe we'll have you before the coroner for the identification, but maybe it's better so."

I nodded assent. My mind was too numbed to suggest another course.

Gray dawn was breaking through the chill fog, and people were stirring in the streets as Detective Coogan led the way out of the morgue. As we parted he gave me a curious look.

"I suppose you know your own business, Wilton," he said, but I suspect you'd be a sight sater if I'd clap you in jail."

And with this consoling comment he was gone, and I was left in the dawn of my first morning in the city of San Francisco, mind and body at the nadir of depression after the excitement and perils of the night.

CHAPTER V.
Doddridge Knapp.

It was past ten o'clock of the morning when the remembrance of the mysterious note I had received the preceding night came on me. I took the slip from my pocket, and read its contents once more. It was perplexing enough, but it furnished me with an idea. Of course I could not take money intended for Henry Wilton. But here was the first chance to get at the heart of this dreadful business.

The writer of the note, I must suppose, was the mysterious employer. If I could see her I could find the way of escape from the dangerous burden of Henry Wilton's personality and mission.

But which bank could be meant? The only names I knew were the Bank of California, whose failure in the previous year had sent echoes even into my New England home, and the Anglo-Californian Bank, on which I held a draft. The former struck me as the more likely place of appointment, and after some skilful navigating I found myself at the corner of California and Sansome streets, before the building through which the wealth of an empire had flowed.

I watched closely the crowd that passed in and out of the treasure-house, and assumed what I hoped was an air of prosperous indifference to my surroundings.

No one appeared to notice me. There were eager men and cautious men, and men who looked serious and men who looked anxious, but neither man nor woman was looking for me.

Plainly I had made a bad guess. A hasty walk through several other banks that I could see in the neighborhood gave me no better result, and I had to acknowledge that this chance of penetrating the mystery was gone.

I speculated for the moment on what the effects might be. To neglect an order of this kind might result in the withdrawal of the protection that had saved my life, and in turning me over to the mercies of a host of bandits who thought I knew something of the whereabouts of a boy.

Concerning the great tragedian; who is by no means a stranger in this city, the Minneapolis Times says: "Frederick Warde, who has won a place among the great interpreters of English classic drama, is more than a great actor, although that would seem to be distinction enough for one man to have won; he is a broad-minded, public spirited American citizen, who keeps in close touch with the current life of the world. "Fat is nothing but unused energy," says a prominent physician, and the man or woman who is burdened with it can easily get rid of it if they wish.
